At the Ewing Christian College, interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary approaches are becoming increasingly important in college work, as they allow students to develop a broader understanding of complex issues and problems. We recognize the importance of interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary approaches and are incorporating them into the curriculum in various ways. In the absence of Honors courses, the college offers a variety of courses to both students in the arts and sciences which they are free to choose to make their combinations. In this way, the students are exposed to a variety of knowledge systems. We also run courses such as environmental studies, biophysics, biotechnology, and microbiology that invite our students to study multiple disciplines to seek solutions to complex problems. Through the compulsory AEC (Ability Enhancement Courses) and SEC (Skill Enhancement Courses) the college further pushes the students to pursue realms of knowledge that may lie outside their disciplinary choices. The college also runs a host of certificate courses through which students are free to explore their personal and professional ambitions.
16. Academic bank of credits (ABC):
The University Grants Commission with the concurrence of Ministry of Education had notified "The University Grants Commission (Establishment and Operation of Academic Bank of Credits in Higher Education) Regulations.2021" in the Gazette of India on 28 th July, 2021. 17.Skill development:

Ewing Christian College offers a variety of Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC) with the aim to hone the skills that are crucial for students to succeed in their professional and personal lives, providing students with life-skills in the hands-on mode to increase their employability. Mandated by the University Grants Commission, Skill Enhancement Courses provide the opportunity and knowledge for an individual to develop and strengthen the necessary skills to gain, maintain, and advance in a chosen area. They are focused around training that combines the best practices from education, psychology, social work, career counselling, sports, and technology training. Graduates of our region are pathetically way behind in basic skills required as compared to the industry standard. As educators it is our prime responsibility to provide our students such educational programs, which will develop the industry required basic skill in them. Ewing Christian College imparts life skills as well as technical and professional skills as part of holistic education and initiates measures at all levels to provide necessary infrastructure and environment for this serious pursuit. With a view to add value to the degree program at the undergraduate level, the College offers following Certificate programs of two Credits compulsorily for the students taking admission in the College.

18.Appropriate integration of Indian Knowledge system (teaching in Indian Language, culture, using online course)

The Indian knowledge system is a rich and diverse source of knowledge that has been developed over thousands of years. The college recognizes the importance of integrating the Indian knowledge system into its curriculum to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the world and prepare them for future careers.

One way in which Ewing Christian College is integrating the Indian knowledge system is through the creation of courses that focus on Indian philosophy, literature, and culture. These courses provide students with an understanding of the historical and cultural context of India and its contributions to the world. For example, a course on Indian literature in English Studies may focus on the works of famous Indian authors such as Raja Rao, R K Narayan, and A K Ramanujan. All the departments of Ewing Christian College, especially the Humanities and Social Sciences offer courses that have a compulsory component of India and Indianness. These methods are designed to engage students and provide them with a deeper understanding of the subject matter. For example, a class on Indian philosophy may use storytelling to explain complex concepts such as karma and dharma.

19.Focus on Outcome based education (OBE):Focus on Outcome based education (OBE):

In recent years, the emphasis on outcome-based education has become significant in the area of education. To ensure quality outcomes and ongoing improvement, the shift from a content-driven curriculum to an outcome-based curriculum is considered as a work in progress.

The shift to outcome-based education is highlighting opportunities and problems that need additional investigation. A feature of outcome-based education is its emphasis on "success for all." This indicates that the goal of the educational system is to guarantee that every student demonstrates the requisite skills and achieves the desired results. The move to outcome-based education must include defining graduate outcome goals and aligning curriculum to meet these goals.

A more comprehensive approach to teaching and learning is made possible by the switch to a competency-based educational system. In order for pupils to flourish in the real world, it places a high priority on the development of particular skills, knowledge, and talents. Based on the abilities that students should be able to exhibit at the conclusion of their educational program, curricular decision-making in outcome-based education is conducted. This strategy determines curriculum content and organization, teaching methods and strategies, courses offered, educational atmosphere, and assessment strategies. Outcome-based education makes sure that students have the information, abilities, morals, and values needed to succeed in their chosen fields by concentrating on the desired results.

20.Distance education/online education:

Distance education and online education have become increasingly prominent in the field of learning, with the development of Internet technologies and the recent global shift towards remote teaching and learning. The COVID-19 pandemic has accelerated the adoption of online education as a necessary means to ensure uninterrupted schooling for students around the world. This rapid digitalization and the implementation of emergency remote teaching practices have not only highlighted the potential risks and challenges, but also the benefits and opportunities of inclusive and equitable education. As we look towards the future, it is clear that distance education and online learning will continue to shape the landscape of higher education. The combination of online and offline forms of teaching and learning will likely become a new normal, particularly in times of future pandemics or emergencies.

One of the key components of semester system is an ongoing assessment of students so that they are fully aware of their academic status so that they can work hard and prepare themselves accordingly. Keeping this in mind the college has put in place a tutorial Examination for all non-practical subjects, the duration of such examination is 45 minutes and each department is expected to incorporate at least 40% syllabi in tutorial Examination. The total weightage of marks for tutorial exemption in each subject is 25.

It also enables the user to reserve Issuance of any book, well in advance just through a click of a button using the mobile from any remote location however the validity of the reservation is held only up to 24 hours. In order to access the application, the user has to simply download the app from the Google play store and use his or her Enrollment number and Registered mobile number as User ID and password respectively. A link for N-LIST is also posted within the App in which the user can fill the Google form and get access to various e-books and research articles after authorization of the concerned authority.

A full concept paper was prepared and the form of the student representation was changed from the directly elected presidential form of student union to indirectly elected presidential form based on the electoral college formed on the pattern of parliamentary form of government. This led to the inauguration of the Student Council in 2005, which stamped out undesirable external influence on student politics and gave opportunity to students to elect their representatives without fear or favour. The positive outcomes of this process of election was that unlike in the previous case, when students used to take out processions all over the city, disturbing civil society in the process, they were constrained to now canvassing within the college and the focus of the election process shifted to internal academic and policy matters.

Course outcomes (COs) are direct statements that describe the essential and enduring disciplinary knowledge, abilities that students should possess and the depth of learning that is expected upon completion of a course. The POs/PSOs of the programme are published through electronic media at individual Department site located on the college website <https://ecc.ac.in/>. The COs of the courses are also published through electronic media at the Department site located on the college website: <https://ecc.ac.in/>.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme Outcomes and Course Outcomes as evaluated by the institution

The curriculum is strongly aligned with the POs and the PSOs and COs are framed along the lines of the program outcomes. The college regularly undertakes the compilation of Program outcomes. The results of every program being offered by the institution are evaluated. The course outcomes are evaluated in terms of various parameters viz critical ability and employability. The Institution regularly evaluates the performance of students through Final Semester Examinations, Internal Exams and home assignments, unit tests, surprise tests, open book tests, viva voce, etc. Remedial coaching is also provided by various departments to slow learners to stay in pace with the desired progression. Students are enrolled in Ability Enhancement Courses and Skill Enhancement Courses and are evaluated by the institution through subject specific exams. The Institution collects feedback from students and alumni, which is an important method of measuring attainment. One of the most important Programme Outcomes of a program is the employability of students upon successful completion of their degree programme. The college has a vibrant Training and Placement Cell, which caters to the demands of various employers from different sectors. It also enables the user to reserve Issuance of any book, well in advance just through a click of a button using the mobile from any remote location however the validity of the reservation is held only up to 24 hours. In order to access the application, the user has to simply download the app from the Google play store and use his or her Enrollment number and Registered mobile number as User ID and password respectively. A link for N-LIST is also posted within the App in which the user can fill the Google form and get access to various e-books and research articles after authorization of the concerned authority.

7.3 - Institutional Distinctiveness

7.3.1 - Highlight the performance of the institution in an area distinct to its priority and thrust (within a maximum of 200 words)

Institutional Distinctiveness (2021-22)

In 2004, the college administration deliberated on the means to improve peace and order on the campus in such a manner that the student representative body may be formed in such a way that external influence may be curbed and student leaders may not become puppets in the hands of their external mentors but may work for the actual welfare of the students. A full concept paper was prepared and the form of the student representation was changed from the directly elected presidential form of student union to indirectly elected presidential form based on the electoral college formed on the pattern of parliamentary form of government. This led to the inauguration of the Student Council in 2005, which stamped out undesirable external influence on student politics and gave opportunity to students to elect their representatives without fear or favour. The positive outcomes of this process of election was that unlike in the previous case, when students used to take out processions all over the city, disturbing civil society in the process, they were constrained to now canvassing within the college and the focus of the election process shifted to internal academic and policy matters.
